TOPIC OF THE PROPOSAL:

Strengthening Oklahoma's Primary Care Workforce Pipeline: Recruitment, Training, and Retention Strategies to Meet Statewide Needs

EXPLANATORY COMMENTS ON THE SCOPE OF THE STUDY PROPOSAL:

Oklahoma is facing a growing shortage of primary care providers—especially in rural and medically underserved areas—at a time when demand for services is rising. This study will evaluate the current status of the state's primary care workforce pipeline and identify evidence-based strategies to recruit more students into primary care, train them effectively, and retain them to practice in high-need areas throughout the state.
